Volume 2, Number 13

When most of us think of Spring, we think of new growth. Within our Consortium, we are happy that Spring is here. New growth has occurred over the winter months and now the fruits of our efforts are showing among many of our members' inclusive initiatives. Here is a "shout out" to those new growths that are among us this Spring:

1. Residential experiences will be opening for the REAL certificate program at Arcadia in Fall 2019.
2. Joining Arcadia in residential experiences is Gwynedd Mercy University who is launching a new initiative in Fall 2019!
3. Congrats to Duquesne University who is also planning a Fall 2019 launch.
4. Champions at Lehigh Carbon Community College are exploring a new approach to their initiative.
5. Holy Family University continues to strive toward program development.
6. Millersville University and Temple University continue to work with Dan Habib on a new documentary about full inclusive college experiences within our state.

What new growth is blossoming on your campus? Within your program? Or do you know of other colleges or universities that would like more information about our collective efforts? Please share this newsletter or send our office an e-mail and we'll gladly add them to our mailing list. Many thanks for sharing the worthy work that we are achieving on our campuses for students with intellectual disability!
