Supporting Authentic, Inclusive
Postsecondary Education

March 25, 2019

Volume 2 , Number 14

What would you do if the institution of higher education where you are working requested that you begin an "Inclusive Postsecondary Initiative?"

Do you have a champion on your campus that can spearhead the cause? Have you identified a team of individuals to get started? What data do you need to support your decision-making process? What is your vision for growing your initiative? How will you embed your initiative across the various departments on the campus? What will the budget look like for the next five years? How many students should be in the initiative? What credentials will be bestowed upon students who complete the program? How do students select classes and register? What about residential? Career exploration and internships?

Some of you are considering starting a new program and many of you are continually reflecting on your existing program to promote the most inclusive initiative possible. Either way, you will most likely be searching for answers to the questions posed above.

Look no more – The Consortium office has begun to develop technical assistance videos that will support our members with their various development questions. We are in the process of creating and will soon be publishing these brief informational videos on our new Youtube channel. Stay tuned for more to come!
